

Myles Owens

m.a.owens@lse.ac.uk | (+44) 7874 341647 UK | (+1) 205-531-5920 US | <https://mowens117.github.io/>

Degrees

London School of Economics	London, UK
Master of Public Administration, Economic Policy (3.5)	May 2025
Relevant Coursework: Quantitative Methods, Advanced Quantitative Methods, Model Based Quantitative Analysis. Automated Data Visualization, Public Economics, Growth Diagnostics, Public Policy for Block-chain Technology
Loyola University New Orleans	New Orleans, LA
Bachelor of Arts, Political Science, Economics, Cum Laude (3.54)	May 2022
Relevant Coursework: Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Econometrics, Mathematical Economics, Constitutional Law, Political Economy, Comparative Government, International Relations

Experience

LSE Capstone: Bank of England	London, UK
London School of Economics	October 2024 – Present
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Developing a framework to help central bankers quantify productivity gains from AI tool deployment.Acting as the team's go-to expert on central banking. I provide key insights into the Bank of England's structure and mission.Engaging in frequent communication with the Bank of England's Advanced Analytics team to establish expectations and collaborate on client needs.Leading outreach and interview coordination for a purposive snowball study of central bankers.
Distributed Ledger Technology Policy Researcher	London, UK
Bank for International Settlements Innovation Hub London Centre	July - September 2024
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Developed a policy report for internal stakeholders, synthesizing compliance regulations across eight jurisdictions to guide the development of the cross-border distributed ledger payment system, Project Agorá.Led knowledge transfer sessions with external regulatory and private sector compliance experts.Gained hands-on experience with emerging financial technologies in central banking, including suptech, distributed ledger technology, and privacy-preserving algorithms.
Mercatus Fellow	Fairfax, VA
Mercatus Center at George Mason University	May 2022 – May 2023
Relevant Coursework (PhD level): Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Econometrics, Mathematical Economics <ul style="list-style-type: none">Participated in roundtable discussions and seminars on economics research.Conducted literature reviews and data analysis for several ongoing research projects.Completed 18 hours of PhD coursework in economics obtaining a 3.45 GPA.
American Economic Association (AEA) Summer Scholar	Washington, DC
Howard University	May – August 2022
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Acquired expertise in the regulatory and economic landscape governing Chinese foreign investment.Developed an ARIMA forecast in R the ASEAN-China free trade agreement's impact on Chinese foreign investment.Showcased empirical findings at the 2022 Summer Mentoring Pipeline Conference and AEA summer program.
Research Assistant	New Orleans, LA
Loyola University	March 2020 – May 2022
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Co-authored and published research as an undergraduate with the Center for Socio-Economic Studies and Multiculturalism.Analyzed the effectiveness of the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) program in reducing pollution, finding that the standards largely act as a subsidy for driving.
International Relations Teaching Assistant	New Orleans/South Korea (virtual)
Loyola University	July – August 2021
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Facilitated dynamic group discussions on international relations and current global events with students.Assessed students' ability to apply international relations theories to critically analyze global events.
Languages and Software
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Stata, R, Python, HTML, SQL, Tableau, LaTeX, Excel, Vega-lite
Skills
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Quantitative: Regression, Event Studies, Data Visualization, Supervised Learning (classification, regression), Unsupervised learning (clustering, dimensionality reduction), Forecasting, Simulation analysis, Hierarchical Models, Text analysis, Web scrapingQualitative: Policy Analysis, Literature Reviews, Memo Writing, Interviews
Initiatives
<ul style="list-style-type: none">AI Governance Society, Policy Pulse (Substack policy blog)
Certifications
<ul style="list-style-type: none">Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate - SQL, Tableau, and R	